

Founded in 2005 with the intention of creating an educational community providing free instruction for an expansive field of inquiry, The Mountain School of Arts established itself to become the oldest, continuous artist-run school in California.

Since our inception we been offering an independent program with a serious and obligated faculty. MSA[^] considers itself a supplement and amendment to the university system.

The school is open each year to selected students coming from all over the world. There will be no fees for enrolling or for attending classes.
